BOSTON MORNING POST.

PUBLISHED DAILY, AT NO. 21 WATER STREET, BY BEALS & GREENE.—CHARLES GORDON GREENE EDITOR.

VOLUME XIII. NO. 21. MONDAY MORNING, JUNE 26, 1837. PRICE $6 PER ANN. IN ADVANCE

MANHATTAN HOUSE.
NO. 68 DUANE-STREET, NEW YORK.

JAMES RYAN, from the Howard House, Boston, respectfully informs the public, that he has taken the large building in Duane street, 6 doors from Broadway, known as Rutger's College, for the purpose of a HOTEL and RESTAURANT. The interior of the building has been entirely taken out, and refitted expressly to suit the business of the present occupant.

Mr Ryan will keep the Manhattan House for the accommodation of Clubs and Parties. The best wines and Liquors will be furnished from his cellar, having been carefully selected from the best stocks in Boston, a large portion of them being of the celebrated stocks long in the cellar of Mr Gallagher, late of the Exchange Coffee House. Rooms will be furnished for References and Courts Martial. Transient and permanent boarders will be accommodated in the best style known in the country; and elegant apartments will be let, with or without board.

The Table d'Hote will be supplied with every delicacy of the various seasons. Breakfasts, Dinners and Suppers, of every description, will be served at short notice, and various soups will be ready every day from eleven to three. Mr Ryan is confident that in this department, his own experience, added to the skill of the persons employed as cuisiniers, will enable him to please the most fastidious epicures, both in respect to quality and style.

Those friends who have known the character of Mr Ryan's House in Boston, he is assured, will find his accommodations better, his means more ample, and his diligence quite as unbetter, his means more ample, and his diligence quite as untiring; and from such strangers in this city, as love excellence in the various departments of his profession, he would beg the favor of an early call, with the full hope of giving satisfaction.

☞ House was opened on the 15th June, 1837. eptf je17

MARLBORO' HOTEL.

The subscriber would give notice that he has taken the MARLBORO' HOTEL, and shall be ready within a few days to see his friends. The house has been thoroughly repaired, enlarged, and neatly painted and papered. The furniture and bedding are new, and the accommodations in every respect are believed to be equal to any other Hotel in the city. No pains will be spared to furnish the table with every variety the market affords. Efforts will be made to furnish the table with the products of free labor, and provision will also be made for those who prefer vegetable diet. Religious worship will be regularly maintained every day, and as far as possible to prevent, no company be received or bills will be settled on the Sabbath. No smoking allowed. The Hotel will be kept entirely on the Temperance principles, and while not a particle of intoxicating liquor will be sold or used, it will be a quiet home for gentlemen travelling with their families, as well as for others. There are several suits of rooms for the accommodation of small families as permanent boarders. Application for permanent board will be received at the Hotel every day.

OF GERMANY,
☞ THE GREATEST OF HUMAN BENEFACTORS. ☜

Citizens of North and South America,—

To LOUIS OFFON GOELICKE, M. D., of Germany, (Europe,) belongs the imperishable honor of adding a NEW and PRECIOUS DOCTRINE to the Science of Medicine,—a doctrine, which, though vehemently opposed by many of the Faculty (of which he is a valuable member,) he proves to be as well founded in truth, as any doctrine of Holy Writ—a doctrine, upon the verity of which are suspended the lives of millions of our race, and which he boldly challenges his opposers to refute, viz: CONSUMPTION IS A DISEASE ALWAYS OCCASIONED BY A DISORDERED STATE OF THE VIS VITÆ (OR LIFE-PRINCIPLE) OF THE HUMAN BODY—☞ OFTEN SECRETLY LURKING IN THE SYSTEM FOR YEARS, BEFORE THERE IS THE LEAST COMPLAINT OF THE LUNGS ☜—AND WHICH MAY BE AS CERTAINLY, THOUGH NOT SO QUICKLY CURED, AS A COMMON COLD OR A SIMPLE HEADACHE. An invaluably precious doctrine this, as it imparts an important lesson to the apparently healthy of both sexes, teaching them that this insidious foe may be an unobserved inmate of their "clayey houses," even while they imagine themselves secure from its attacks, teaching them that THE GREAT SECRET IN THE ART OF PRESERVING HEALTH IS TO PLUCK OUT THE DISEASE WHILE IN THE BLADE, AND NOT WAIT TILL THE FULL-GROWN EAR.

This illustrious benefactor of man is also entitled to your unfeigned gratitude, and the gratitude of a world, for the invention of his MATCHLESS SANATIVE,—whose healing fiat may justly claim for it such a title, since it has so signally triumphed over our great common enemy ☞ CONSUMPTION, both in its first and last stages, ☜—a medicine, which has thoroughly filled the vacuum in the Materia Medica, and thereby proved itself the ☞ CONQUEROR OF PHYSICIANS, ☜—a medicine, for which all mankind will have abundant cause to bless the beneficent hand of a KIND PROVIDENCE,—a medicine, whose wondrous virtues have been glowingly portrayed even by some of our clergy, in their pastoral visits to the sick chamber; by which means they often become the happy instruments of changing despondency into hope, sickness into health, and the sadness of friends into joyfulness.

In all cities containing more than twenty thousand inhabitants, Booksellers are the only agents among store-keepers.

To Postmasters, Store keepers, (except Druggists and Apothecaries,) and Innkeepers, in both Americas:

ALIENS AND SIRS:—BERNARD HEISTER, of Germany, who is deputed the sole Vicegerent of the inventor, has the honor to inform you, that you are deputed, and respectfully requested to act as VENDERS and AGENTS for

a medicine of more value to man than the vast mines of Austria, or even the united treasures of our globe,—a medicine, which is obtained equally from the vegetable, animal, and mineral kingdoms, and thus possesses a THREE-FOLD power,—a medicine, which, though designed as a remedy for consumption solely, is possessed of a mysterious influence over many diseases of the human system,—a medicine, which begins to be valued by Physicians, who are daily witnessing its astonishing cures of many whom they had resigned to the grasp of the ☞ INSATIABLE GRAVE. ☜

☞ DOSE of the Sanative, for adults, one drop; for children, a half drop, and for infants a quarter drop; the directions explaining the manner of taking a half or a quarter drop.

PRICE—Three and one third rix dollars* ($2,50) per HALF OUNCE.

*A German coin, value 75 cents.

A brief history of this immortal Experimenter, who has sacrificed a large property and nearly six years of mental and bodily toil upon the altar of human benevolence, must be fraught with thrilling interest to the Western as well as Eastern World. He is a kinsman of Dr. ANDREW OFFON GOELICKE, the well known author of the "Historia Medicinæ Universalis," who gained a great reputation throughout Germany, in the commencement of the last century, by zealously advocating the doctrines of the eccentric Dr. STAHL. Having lost his father by ☞ Consumption, ☜ Goelicke was left with a large estate. Fortunate for us, and fortunate for generations yet unborn, his pole-star was the good of his fellow-men,—and he "vowed in the name of the BEING who made him, that he would spend his last shilling and his life with it, ere he would stop short of the discovery of the CAUSE and CURE of that dreaded disease which had torn from him a beloved parent."

The lofty spirit of Goelicke was chafed by the too just reproach cast upon the healing art, that "its imbecility and ignorance serve but to court and foster disease,"—and his aspiring soul would not permit him to grovel on with the great mass of physicians, in the dim twilight of medical knowledge. "What!" said he, "has the God of nature been more provident for the earthy reptiles that crawl at our feet, than for the noblest of his creation, Man? Has he not kindly provided an antidote to the maladies even of the hateful toad, in the very leaf that was designed as its shelter from the storm? Dare we then impiously charge our Maker with a WANT OF FORESIGHT? Heaven forbid!"

Being fully persuaded of the existence of a sovereign remedy for Consumption, then undiscovered, this giant-minded philosopher and experimenter commenced ransacking the three kingdoms of nature, vegetable, animal and mineral, and with the key of chemistry in hand, unlocked her sacred archives. Not satisfied with surveying the beautiful exterior of her triune temple, this zealous chemist made a bold entrance into the inner courts; and there, directed by the Great Chemist of the Universe, obtained from NATURE'S MEDICINE CHEST, his Matchless Sanative.

Dr. HERMAN ETMULLER, and two other of our most eminent physicians (whose testimonials will be found annexed to this prospectus,) who were the first to pronounce Goelicke a "BASE IMPOSTOR and the PRINCE OF QUACKS," were also the first to acknowledge his merits and his claims to universal confidence. "On hearing," to use their own words, "so much said about the Sanative, against it, and for it, they were induced, from motives of curiosity merely, to make trial of its reputed virtues upon a number of their most hopeless patients; and they now deem it their bounden duty (even at the expense of their self-interest) publicly to acknowledge its mighty efficacy in curing not only Consumption, but other fearful maladies which they have heretofore believed incurable." They frankly confess, that it is the most unaccountable in its action of any medicine ever prepared by human hands.

Now, from the fact that the Sanative was originally designed as a remedy for but one disease growing out of a disturbance of the Vis Vitæ or life-principle, and still has influence over many others, it may justly be inferred, that the unnatural bias of that power which was intended to govern the system, is the GREAT FOUNTAINHEAD of DISEASE, and the various human ills mere streams issuing from that corrupted fountain. The confession and strong testimony of Drs. Etmuller, Werner, and Van Gautt, are in direct proof of such a position; and consequently this medicine, by acting as a purifier of the fountainhead, must be above all value as a general remedy; for if the fountain be made pure and healthy, the streams will be pure and healthy also. The reasonableness of this doctrine begins to be admitted even by many physicians; and it cannot but appear plain to the most common mind.

Some of the profession more jealous than philanthropic, continue to utter many bitter things against this valuable remedy, calling it a "hoaxing and humbugging nostrum," and thereby unintentionally have caused many to "try it," who might otherwise now have been sleeping the long sleep of death.

☞ One physician, Dr. Bathurst, well known throughout Germany, and much respected for his knowledge, betrayed a most unpardonable ignorance of medical history, by openly declaring that "Goelike's boasted ancestor, Andrew Offon Goelicke, never published a medical work of any kind, and that his name was not known ten miles from his residence,—and that Goelicke had thus falsely magnified his pedigree, in order to give a greater popularity to his Sanative!"

This unfortunate overshot in a gentleman of Dr. Bathurst's standing, excited a smile even upon the long faced sharks of the Faculty, as well as upon Goelicke,—for the name of his illustrious ancestor is, or ought to be, familiar with every physician in the world. Every practitioner, who has Robert Hooper's Lexicon Medicum in his library, (and no one is without it) can point the incredulous to the very leaf that will tell him of "Andrew Offin Goelicke of Germany," and that he was the author of many valuable medical works, besides his "Historia Medicinæ Universalis."

Should the American physicians deal out their anathemas against their German friend, on the ground, that his medicine lessens the amount of their annual charges, his only retaliatory wish is, that whenever they may be afflicted with disease themselves, they may find relief from their suffering, in the use of his Sanative.

Such is the demand for this mighty health restorer in Germany, that Mr. Anthony Strumer, one of our booksellers, sold in one month 147 phials, being more than six packages,—Mr. E. P. Manhattan, grocer, 128,—Mr. James Sevier, innkeeper, 105,—and not a single Forwarding Agent, who has made returns of money to the depository, has sold less than 200 per month, since he received his appointment.

An association of gentlemen, with Mr. Manhattan at its head, and comprising twenty Agents, recently offered Goelicke $40,000 for the ORIGINAL RECIPE for preparing the Sanative, but this sum was refused.

Mr. Manhattan has cause to prize this medicine, since one of his daughters whom Dr. Van Gautt attended in a long sickness, and whom he acknowledged to be in a "confirmed consumption," has been perfectly cured by using only ☞ "three quarters of a Phial." ☜ Also a young man, who was formerly a clerk in his store, and who had for several years been subject to Fits, was restored to uninterrupted health, on taking less than half a Phial. Several other very important cures have been disinterestedly reported to the public, by the before-named physicians, since their conversion to the Vis Vitæ doctrine, as will be seen by their annexed testimonials.

☞ Of most medicines before the public, the patient is directed to "take five or six bottles, and if these do not cure, persevere in the use of ten, or even fifteen; but not so with the Matchless Sanative.

☞ It is here worthy of remark, that in almost every instance, where cures have been wrought by this remedy, less than a phial has removed the disease,—and, in no case, whether resulting fatally or successfully, has a patient used two whole phials.

☞ The Sanative is above all estimate, as a general preventive of CONTAGIOUS DISEASES,—and by many it is said to be a never-failing antidote, though the inventor does not clothe it with such infallibility.

☞ Masters of vessels, who may wish to furnish themselves and their crews, each with a phial of it, can obtain the article of any of the Agents, at 8 per cent. discount.

All persons who live in unhealthy climates, whether hot or cold,—all operatives and others connected with manufactories, and all who lead sedentary and inactive lives, are exposed to various insidious maladies, which may be silently preying upon their constitutions, even while their countenances wear the glow of health, and while they "suspect no danger nigh"—maladies which an occasional use of the Sanative would check in the bud.

DIRECTIONS, &c. The patient, while using this Medicine, should eat and drink (in kind, not quantity) whatever the APPETITE dictates, and not be compelled to force down, against nature, every medley, which the tenderest friends and kindest nurses often imprudently recommend.

NATURE IS THE GREAT PHYSICIAN (the doctor and nurse only her servants): and if we would profit by her advice, we must adhere strictly to her Infallible Recipe. If she order for the patient, water, porter, or hock, obey her; if she direct fish, fowl, eggs, or a beef-steak, regard her voice. In other words, the patient should eat and drink, whatever his appetite craves, not forgetting to be "temperate in all things."

In burning fevers, mock not the patient's instinctive call for cooling drink, by simply moistening [!] his parched lips; but place by his bedside a vessel of water, put into his hand a cup, and let him slake his thirst at pleasure. This is REASON; this is COMMON SENSE; this is NATURE.

As this medicine expends its WHOLE POWER in restoring the disordered Life-Principle to its natural state, and as it is consequently ☞ not in the least degree physical, ☜ the patient is directed to keep the bowels open with epsom salts or castor oil, in the ordinary doses.

☞ The Sanative may be taken without the least interruption in business or pleasure, and without any variation in the usual course of living.

DOSE. For adults, one drop; for children, a half-drop; for infants, a quarter-drop;—to be taken, in all cases, in a little tepid milk, three times daily—one hour before each meal, and thus continue till a cure is effected. For infants, the mother's milk is the most proper. "But how," the patient sometimes asks, "can a drop be divided into two or four parts?" Put two or four teaspoonsful of milk into a phial, add one drop of the Sanative, and shake well for five minutes; then a teaspoonful of the mixture will contain a half-drop or a quarter-drop, according to the quantity of milk put in. It is not an uncommon inquiry, "Why not take two drops?" The answer is obvious. If we should push our efforts to restore the Vis Vitæ to an equilibrium, we should, forsooth, find ourselves forcing Nature, than which nothing could be more preposterous or unsafe. Besides, the immense cost and labor of the various chemical processes for obtaining the Sanative is a sufficient reason for using the least quantity that will produce the wished-for effect. In consequence of his vast expenses, Goelicke has been compelled to advance the price from $2 to $2,50 per phial, which step he has taken with much reluctance,—and his present pecuniary embarrassments cannot fail of convincing his most uncharitable enemies, that he has a greater desire to ☞ benefit mankind than to accumulate wealth.

☞ TO AGENTS. The General Agent for the Matchless Sanative, in the Western Hemisphere, is Dr. DAVID S. ROWLAND,* BOSTON, in the ancient State of MASSACHUSETTS, NORTH-AMERICA, of whom all the deputed Agents can obtain the article, in person or by order, ☞ without paying any advance money ☜ and with the liberal commission of 25 per cent.

There will not be a traveling agent in the country, unless public notice be first given; and the medicine can be had by the agents only at the depository in Boston. It is put up in packages of two dozen phials each, at $60 per package; and, weighing less than two pounds, any number of packages may be conveyed to a great distance at a very small expense.

To prevent even an attempt at counterfeiting, the directions accompanying each package will contain a private check-mark, made known to the general agent at Boston, who is duly authorized to employ an inspecting agent, at the expense of the depository, to visit, occasionally, the sub-agents in the different sections of the country. It was deemed absolutely necessary, by the inventor, that the general agent in America should be a gentleman acquainted with medicine; but while said agent has power to create additional agencies in any town or city, whenever he shall think proper, he has it in charge not to appoint either druggists or apothecaries as agents, and consequently this medicine will not be for sale at their stores.

☞ The Sanative will be obtainable by the inhabitants of every town in both of the Americas, as soon as the several agents shall know of their appointments.

☞ The large and thin cards in each package, the agents are requested to attach to pasteboard, or put them into frames, and deduct the expense, with their commission, from the money received for the Sanative.

☞ As the constantly increasing demand for this medicine in Europe, is with much difficulty met, and as there will now be a still greater supply required, agents in America, for the present, will be restricted in their drafts upon the depository. Agents in Boston, where daily access can be had to the depository, will be limited to one package each, till that is sold, and the proceeds paid over to the depository. Those living within one hundred miles of the depository, will be limited to four packages each; from one hundred to five hundred miles, 8 packages; and all others, in both Americas, sixteen packages:—the proceeds, in each case, to be paid over as above. Wherever the facilities of communication with Boston are great, agents are desired to draw for a less number of packages than are restricted to each of the foregoing classes.

☞ No letters or papers will be taken from the Post Office, unless POST-PAID.

☞ That the funds of the inventor may be equal to his heavy expenses, (as he is making extensive preparations to furnish the Sanative to every people,) each agent, as soon as he shall have sold to the amount of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS, will please forward the same (after deducting his commission and contingent bill) to the depository.

☞ As no advance money is required of agents in Europe (but simply the small contingent bill,) the same liberality is extended to agents in America. This little item, which is designed to pay for the freight of the Sanative, accidents, &c., is not paid by the agents; for they are authorized to deduct it, besides their commission, from the sales of the Sanative. For example: An agent in Boston takes one package from the depository, (to which he is limited,) for which he pays in the contingent bill, (which is $2 50 on each $60 package.) As soon as he has sold that package, he deducts $2 50 from the amount, in addition to his commission, and pays over the balance to the depository. Another agent forwards an order for four packages; and when he has disposed of one of them, he deducts his commission and the $10 which he remitted, and only his commission from the other three, when sold. It will thus be perceived, that the contingent bill is eventually paid out of the sales of the Sanative, and that all money remitted for the medicine is paid back to the agents by their own hands.

☞ For the convenience of those who live remote from the depository in Europe, a Forwarding or Company Agent is appointed in every town, who collects the contingent bill of the several agents, and remits the amount to the depository, together with their names and respective avocations,—sometimes comprising a list of ten, twenty, and even fifty agents, ordering from two to sixteen packages each, according to their pleasure or circumstances; and in this way much expense is saved.

☞ Postmasters in every town and city (except Boston) in both Americas, are hereby appointed Forwarding Agents, and are respectfully requested to confer with the other agents in their respective towns, who are named in this prospectus, and pursue the same course of our company agents in Europe. In addition to the established commission, they are allowed to deduct 6 per cent. from their sales, to defray the charges for freight, postage and conveyance; which will consequently exempt all other agents from any similar expense. They are also requested to call upon agents, quarterly, on the first Monday of January, April, July and October, and collect what money may then be in their hands, and remit the same to the depository. Should there be any case where the advanced age of a postmaster, or other cause, may prevent his acceptance of the agency, he is respectfully solicited to appoint some other gentleman to act in his stead. Where there are several post-offices in one town, that which has been longest established will be deemed the standard one; and the postmasters of the other offices will be considered vending agents only.

☞ In large towns or cities, where it will be impossible for the forwarding agent to call upon all the other agents, such persons not called upon, can forward their own orders to the depository for the Sanative, or associate together and choose a company agent.

Publishers of newspapers on the western side of the Atlantic (in Boston the Boston Courier, Morning Post, and Daily Times, as the depository is in that city) are requested to give this Prospectus one insertion among their communications, and three weekly insertions among their advertisements (price not to exceed $20), sending the paper with the first insertion only to the depository, and to present their bills to the forwarding agents in their respective towns, who are duly authorized to pay the same out of the funds arising from the sales of the Sanative. As all publishers of newspapers in Boston and elsewhere are desired to copy from time to time such notices as the General Agent at Boston may give to the public, concerning the medicine, they will present their bills annually, from the date of their first insertion; and the agents are requested to exact duplicates of their receipts, forwarding one of them, with their remittances of money, to the depository.

☞ As Goelicke does not wish the reputation of this remedy in America to depend upon the cases herein reported, but upon its own merits alone, he is perfectly willing, nay, he asks it as a favor, that publishers of newspapers, throughout the whole country, will throw open their columns to ☞ Physicians, ☜ for the free admission of all argumentative communications (over real names), which they may offer against the validity of his new doctrine.

☞ In regard to the Sanative, the public will probably prefer to make actual trial of its worth, rather than rely upon what may be said of it, either by its friends or its foes. Not being at all desirous of a certificate reputation abroad, the inventor would not have consented that the following cases should have been published, had not the annexed testimonial, which corroborates the facts, been so kindly and solicitedly presented to him, by three of our most distinguished physicians, who were, till very recently, his BITTEREST OPPOSERS. Having designed his medicine as an antidote to only one disease, he could not have believed that it possesses such a controlling power over the human system, were not the cases here given, attested to by gentlemen, who were individually knowing to the facts, and whose veracity no one will presume to call in question, viz:—23 of Incipient and Confirmed Consumption; 9 Palsy; 13 Fits; 21 Venereal; 5 Dropsy; 3 Insanity; 12 Emaciation; 15 Indigestion; 7 Pleurisy; 3 Gout; 14 Piles; 9 Dysentery; 6 Gravel and Strangury; 2 Diabetes; 16 Rheumatism; 5 Spine Complaints; 7 Rickets; 12 Jaundice; 1 Partial Deafness; 11 Nervousness; 8 Ague; 35 Weak Lungs and Spitting of Blood; 3 Delirium Tremens; 7 Heartburn; 18 Vertigo and Headache; 12 Loss of Appetite, and Debility; 4 Liver Complaint; 32 Obstinate Coughs and Colds; 9 Asthma; 23 Diseases of the Eyes; 6 Scrofula; 3 St. Anthony's Fire; 10 Disturbed Sleep and Watchings; 2 Cancer; 11 Ringworms; 8 Ulcers and Fever Sores; 9 Wind in Stomach and Bowels; 5 Hypochondria; 16 Night Sweats; 6 Strains; 13 Scurvy; 12 Scald Head; 4 Carbuncled and Pimpled Face; 9 Leprosy; 3 Tumors; 6 Tic Douloureux; 1 Poisoned; 4 Sickness in Pregnancy; and many difficult female complaints; besides numerous cases of Humors, Fevers, &c.

* No. 188 Washington-street.

☞ All persons, whom the Sanative shall save from threatening diseases, are particularly desired to communicate their cases (post paid) to the depository.

We, the undersigned, practitioners of medicine in Germany, are well aware, that by our course we may forfeit the friendship of some of the Faculty, but not of its benevolent members, who are uninfluenced by selfish motives. Though we shall refrain from an expression of our opinion, either of the soundness or unsoundness of Dr. Goelicke's new doctrine, we are happy to say, that we deem his Sanative too valuable not to be generally known; for what our eyes behold, and what our ears hear, we must believe.

We hereby state, that when Dr. Louis Offon Goelicke first came before the German public, as the pretended discoverer of a new doctrine and a new medicine, we held him in the highest contempt, believing and openly pronouncing him to be a base impostor and the prince of quacks. But, on hearing so much said about the Sanative, against it and for it, we were induced, from motives of curiosity merely, to make trial of its reputed virtues upon a number of our most hopeless patients; and we now deem it our bounden duty (even at the expense of our self-interest,) publicly to acknowledge its mighty efficacy, in curing not only consumption, but other fearful maladies, which we have heretofore believed incurable. Our contempt for the discoverer of this medicine was at once swallowed up in our utter astonishment at these unexpected results; and as an amends for our abuse of him, we do frankly confess to the world, that we believe him a philanthropist, who does honor to the profession and to our country, which gave him birth.

As we intend to be impartial witnesses, bearing just testimony, both for and against the Sanative, honesty bids us to correct one error, that has gained ground in the public mind, in regard to it, viz., that "it cures in every instance." We feel called upon to assert the contrary and to undeceive the community on this point; for we have, in several instances in our practice, found this medicine an inefficient barrier against the ravages of disease. But we readily grant, that it possesses powers which pertain to no other remedy with which we are acquainted, and we believe it fully entitled to the qualifying term which is prefixed to it.

One little fact, though unimportant in itself, we cannot forbear mentioning. It is this: while most nostrums are highly scented and attractively colored, to please the fancy of the purchaser, (their chief virtue consisting in the fragrance and color) the Sanative is put up in a very uninviting dress, being nearly inodorous and turbid, but exerting a power, which, though not seen, is felt.

To those who know not the virtues of this medicine, it may appear impossible, and it seems almost incredible, even to ourselves, that such a variety of complaints as is found in the paper given by us to Dr. Goelicke, could be cured by the Sanative alone; but as they all occurred within our own personal knowledge, we have great pleasure in giving them to the public; and we do declare that one phial only, effected a thorough cure in each patient. Eight other obstinate chronic cases came under our observation, during the same time, in which two phials were used in each instance,—and five of the cases terminated fatally, while the remaining three resulted in a restoration to health.

The recent adoption of this medicine into some of our European hospitals is a sufficient guaranty that it performs all it promises. It needed not our testimony; for, wherever it is used, it is its own best witness.

We will merely add, that we are fully persuaded Dr. Goelicke's recent advance on the price of his Sanative, is made from absolute necessity, as his expenses are very great, and we wish our worthy brother success in his benevolent work, and an abundant harvest, as the reward of his labors.

To our fellow-men, of every nation, we would say, that as, by the interposition of Providence, a medicine has been discovered, which almost invariably restores health to the sick, its purchase would be cheap, were its price tenfold higher.

BOSTON MORNING POST.

REPORT OF THE JOINT COMMITTEE OF THE TWO BOARDS OF THE CITY GOVERNMENT, UPON THE ORIGIN AND CIRCUMSTANCES OF THE LATE RIOT IN BROAD STREET.

The following report of the joint committee appointed to inquire into the origin and circumstances of the late disturbance of the public peace in Broad street, was made to the Mayor and Aldermen on Thursday afternoon, and to the City Council in the evening, by both of which boards it was accepted:—

CITY COUNCIL, Boston, June 22d, 1837.

The joint Committee who were appointed "to inquire into the origin and circumstances of the disturbance of the public peace, which occurred in this city on the afternoon of Sunday the 11th instant, with instructions to report in detail, and at as an early day as practicable," have performed the duty assigned to them, and ask leave to present the following REPORT.

It will readily be believed, by all who were aware of the extent of the agitation and excitement which prevailed in the city on the occasion to which the labors of the committee were directed, that the difficulty of ascertaining the exact truth in relation to it was almost insurmountable.—Yet, notwithstanding the great confusion of the time, the prevalent want of self-possession, and the natural reluctance of every one to give evidence which injures a friend, a neighbor, or an associate, the committee believe the following facts have been substantiated:—

Upon Sunday, the 11th of June, a funeral procession was formed in Broad street (in that part formerly called Sea street) near East street, at about a quarter before 4 o'clock, which, in conformity with the customary practice of the Irish, was very numerously attended, the persons assembled on that occasion being vaguely estimated at from three to five hundred in number. At about the same time, or a little earlier, perhaps half an hour sooner, the Engine company, whose house is in East street, returned from the fire in Roxbury which occurred on that day, and after putting their engine into the house, many of them repaired to a neighboring store for refreshments. In returning from the store, one of their number became engaged in a scuffle with some of the persons who were waiting to attend the funeral, (and who were standing in groups in East and Broad streets) and he was either pushed or fell from the side-walk. What were the particular circumstances which occasioned this rencounter, the committee have not been able to learn; but its consequences were immediately perceived, in the anxiety of the Engine men for the defence of their comrade, and the angry demeanor of those who were, or who thought themselves insulted by his deportment. A number of Irishmen in the street drawing hastily towards the Engine house, induced an officer of the company to order the Engine to be drawn out into the street, and the bell attached to it to be struck, and at nearly the same time the bell of the New South Church was rung.

This signal of alarm served to check the approach of those who were apparently collecting with hostile intent; and the funeral procession being almost immediately formed, and moving along its intended way, the symptoms of conflict were passing away with it. In its passage through Broad st., however, it unfortunately happened that it came in contact with another Engine company, which had been summoned by the alarm bell, and was proceeding down Summer st., supposing a fire to call for their exertions in that vicinity. The committee have no evidence before them that there was any intention, on the part of the company coming down Summer street, to offer the slightest insult, or in any way to incommode the procession. On the contrary, they believe the company was going to the performance of its duties in the usual manner. But it will readily be imagined that the almost unavoidable interruption, connected as it was, in the minds of those who are prompt in their resentment of any indignity, with the slight collision which had taken place, was regarded as an act of intentional contumely. It is in evidence that it was so regarded, and the almost instant result was a very sudden and violent attack upon the Engine company, and a conflict of a much more serious character than that which had appeared to be subsiding a few moments before. So far as has been shown to the committee the company acted only on the defensive, and as the number of persons attending the funeral greatly exceeded that of the members of the Fire Department who were present, the latter were speedily driven back by the former, who, it appears, hastily armed themselves from an adjoining wood-yard. Other Engine companies began to appear on the ground, however, and with the aid of part of their numbers, and by the use of stones and other missiles, the Irish were compelled to retreat, the funeral procession was broken up, and the hearse with a few followers was hurried along till it reached a place of safety. No injury or indignity was offered to the hearse, or the body it conveyed. From this time, which as nearly as can be ascertained, was about 4 o'clock, or a little after, until nearly 6 o'clock, when a military force put a stop to it, the contest raged with increasing violence, with swelling numbers and with rising passion. The alarm of the riot having spread rapidly through the city, very many of the inhabitants hurried to the scene of combat; and mingled in it or endeavored to check it, or looked on with the interest of curiosity, as their dispositions severally led them. The officers of most of the Engine companies, who were there, the engineers, and especially the Chief Engineer, used their best efforts to draw off their men, ordering them home with their engines, and using all expedients which were practicable to diminish the tumult.

Several companies and many individuals belonging to the Department were thus extricated from the conflict; but their places were more than supplied by other citizens, who participated in all the excitement of the occasion, without having had any share in its origin. It has been established before the Committee, and is known to such members of it as were present, that as the fight advanced along Broad street towards the end of Purchase street, the number of members of the Fire Department engaged gradually diminished, and no one connected with it has been identified as having participated in the shameful destruction of buildings and furniture which took place at that point. Many persons who were active in the riot towards its close, when the Irish were driven into their houses and the destruction of property began, belonged to those classes of the community who sympathize in a common prejudice against foreigners, who, as they think, interfere with their occupations; and to these were added a great number of unreflecting youths. It has been estimated that damage to the amount of $3000 was done before the appearance of the military put a stop to the tumult, and the depredation which had alarmed and disgraced the city. It may be added that no lives were lost on either side.

The committee have thus given as exact an account as they are able, of the principal scenes of confusion. Another outrage occurred in another part of the city, which they deem it proper to mention, as it was connected with both of the original parties in the conflict. An Engine company was returning from Broad street, with a few of its members and one officer, while several persons were assisting in dragging the Engine who were not connected with the company, and in passing through Exchange street they met an Irishman walking with his wife and two children. The Irishman was without any provocation suddenly assaulted, severely beaten, his clothes tore, and his life endangered, by persons who had hold of the Engine or its rope; but whether those persons belonged to the company or not, the Committee have found it impossible, after much examination, to ascertain. No individual has been recognised as concerned in this disgraceful transaction; and your committee have only to express their deep regret that any Engine company should be in any degree implicated in an assault of so gross and aggravated, and so mean a character. They purposely refrain from mentioning names, or referring to particular companies, as far as possible, because the examination before them was not on oath, and the results of it may hereafter appear in the records of the Courts.

Some individuals not connected with the Fire Department may be identified as concerned in one portion or another, of the riot; and the committee, at the outset, felt some surprise that more persons connected with so extraordinary a series of outrages, could not be ascertained. A little reflection, however, upon their personal experience in the affair, convinced them it is no easy matter to recognise a face, seen perhaps but once, and then disfigured by passion, or, it may be, by blood, or by wounds after the excitement of the parties had passed away. Many must escape, therefore, from the exemplary punishment they deserve, for want of witnesses to identify them. No remarks of the committee can be necessary to impress upon the Council or the community at large, a proper sense of the enormity of the offence committed on the Sabbath against law, order, property and persons, on the occasion which gave rise to this investigation; but some lessons may be learnt from the lamentable occurrence, to which it may be useful to advert.

The committee have reason to believe that some exaggerations and mistatements have gone abroad respecting the agency of the Fire Department in the business. It is impossible for them to imagine that there was any previous concert or predetermination to riot on their part. The occurrence of the fire at Roxbury, which had called them together, was not of their procuring; nor did they know that a funeral procession, of such unusual extent, was to pass through Broad street. Even after the scuffle in East street, there is every probability that the more serious conflict would not have occurred, had not another engine, with its company, unintentionally come in contact with the procession already in a state of some excitement. The whole arose from the accidental collision of parties, both of whom are naturally excitable. The Fire Department have no particular ill-will to the Irish, though individuals among them may partake of a feeling which is shared by many others in the community, of general dislike to all foreign laborers. It is an unhappy circumstance that so mistaken a feeling should exist in a country where, notwithstanding the great extent of importation, the demand for labor is not and cannot be supplied; where the wages of labor are higher in proportion to other things than in any other civilized country; and where, with the growth of the population, the objects of useful labor multiply in a still more rapid ratio. The feeling, however, is not peculiar to the Fire Department, and they should not, therefore, bear the odium of any deliberate purpose of assault or insult.

This is not the proper occasion to speak of the faults of the Fire Department; but whatever they may be, the committee are anxious that they should not be over-estimated, and that their services, which have, of late, been peculiarly arduous and valuable, should not be forgotten in the sudden and violent excitement attendant upon the circumstances of this extraordinary occasion.

The feeling, to which the committee have alluded, is strengthened by the indiscretion of the other party. Instead of assimilating at once, with the customs of the country of their adoption, our foreign population are too much in the habit of retaining their own national usages, of associating too exclusively with each other, and living in groupes together. These practices serve no good purpose; and tend merely to alienate those among whom they have chosen to reside. It would be the part of wisdom to abandon at once all usages and associations which mark them as foreigners, and to become in feeling and in custom, as well as in privileges and rights, citizens of the United States.

The frightful excesses which were committed on Sunday, the 11th instant, in this hitherto orderly city, have led the committee to reflect with deep concern, as they trust the public will also reflect, upon the danger of beginning a brawl in the street, the termination of which no one can foretell. Heretofore it has been common to rely with unlimited confidence on the character we have always maintained. It has been considered impossible that passions could be excited among us, which would produce such dreadful results. The melancholy experience of that day has proved that we are not exempt from even the extreme infirmities of human nature. Let no man, and no company of men, under whatever name they may be associated, imagine that turmoil once begun can be checked when they themselves wish to check it. And let the few who are reckless of consequences, or who are ambitious of producing such miserable scenes of violence and plunder take warning from the events of that day, that the power of the law is sufficient to restrain them, and that the public will is, that public order shall be maintained, at all hazards.

BOSTON MORNING POST.

MONDAY, JUNE 26, 1837.

Correspondence of the Boston Post.

Baltimore, Md., June 20th, 1837.—The whigs of this Congressional District, are now hard at work to defeat the election of the Hon. Isaac McKim, and the Hon. Benjamin C. Howard, and with the hope of effecting their purposes, have nominated a Mr Ridgely, and Mr John McKenny, candidates for Congress. Mr Ridgely I know but little about, he is, however, a General of one of the regiments of this state, and as the whigs are opposed to all "Military Chieftains," and behold in them, from Miss Rachel Harrison, of the North Bend, down to Colonel Pluck, nothing but "war, pestilence, and famine," they have selected Gen. Ridgely for one of their candidates, and thus manifest a disposition to be consistent.

Mr McKenney is a "nice young gentleman"—is the author of a tariff report, and has given to the world a novel called "Swallow Barn." The novel was swallowed, through the agency of the Harpers, but whether the free electors of Baltimore District will swallow Mr McKenney, as a candidate for Congress, is quite another question. Mr Ridgely is a lawyer; so is Mr McKenney; Mr McKim is a rich merchant; so is Mr Howard; but as the whigs have a great attachment for merchants, they reject Messrs McKim and Howard, and thus again manifest their entire consistency.

Gen. Duff Green is with us, and as he has been accustomed to be a leader, he does not work very kindly in the traces, since the "old wigs" of the District, headed by Col. Isaac Munroe of the Patriot, and the Sargeant Poe of the Chronicle, have decided that he must play second fiddle to the party. Gen. Green says, that he plays Paganini or nothing, and "flares up," at the idea of a subordinate station. He growls at Mr McKenney, though he does not actually bark at him, and mutters something about the "Bloody bill," the "odious tariff," and "the compromise." If Duff is not placed in a commanding position he will bolt.

Col. Isaac Munroe, is not exactly satisfied. He is rather of the opinion, that a man who has now a wig as long as he has, ought to have been nominated by the party. The "big wigs" can't think so, no way any how, and Isaac is admonished to keep cool, or "lose his hold a little." Things look amazingly squally among the Baltimore wigs, and I suppose they will be defeated most conclusively. If defeat should attend them, they will change their names, not their principles, and hereafter be known as the scull caps of Maryland.

Mr Webster was invited to visit this city when on his way to the west, but he could'nt think on't—"Hang me," said he, "if I commit any more suicides. Two years ago, or less," said Daniel, "I accepted one of your invitations, and drank your wine, and eat your cold puddings in Baltimore. I made a long speech, in which I talked about the "Constitution" and my devotedness to it—warned you of the danger that surrounded you, 'and all that'—admonished you how necessary it was for you to put me in nomination for the Presidency, and what did ye do, darn ye? Why, in less than a week, you got up a caterwalling—went into what Gov. Reynolds of Illinois calls a Convention, and nominated old Tippy for the Presidency. I can't stand your nonsense any longer, no way you can fix it—'hang me if I commit any more suicides.'"

The "big wigs" now want to drop old Tippy and take up Henry Clay, but not a word do they say about Daniel. I'll tell you the rest another time.

Yours, &c. P. P. PUCKLER.

Mad Dogs, Cows, &c.—The people in Devonshire street thought that they detected a mad dog there on Saturday—he bit two persons, and was finally taken away by his owner, the driver of a grease cart. In Plymouth there is a great excitement upon the subject, and several town meetings have been called lately in consequence. A cow belonging to Mr Ichabod Morey was supposed to have been bitten by a rabid dog. Mr Solomon Sylvester gives the following description of her appearance and death:—

"The cow acted very strangely, and it having been supposed that she might have been bitten by a dog which came on shore from the brig Solon, which has bitten a number of other dogs, fears were entertained that this cow was mad. I thought it might be the horn ail, and adopted the usual remedy in such cases, by cutting off her tail, boring her horns, &c. I offered her water and she became infuriate and tore the bucket to pieces without drinking. She had a propensity to bite things within her reach. The remedies pursued had no favorable effect. She continued the next day in the same situation, and about eleven o'clock that night she became most furious and broke out of the barn, bellowing and raving; first attacking a wheel-barrow, which she threw about, and then ran to a barrel of water, which she turned over and tossed about until it was out of her reach. She continued to bellow and roar, attacking every thing in her way, until she finally fell dead in the greatest agony. I was unwilling to believe her mad until Wednesday night. The people in the house were so much alarmed with her violence, that they fled into the chambers for fear of her breaking into the lower part of the house. I became fully satisfied, as was the case I believe with the great majority of all who saw her in these ravings, that she was mad. She never drank from the beginning of her sickness, although water was frequently offered her, and its sight increased her fury. She frothed at the mouth and discharged more than three buckets full, as I should think, in the course of that day. After she broke out of the barn, no person had the courage to enter the enclosure where she was. The whole neighborhood were in a state of alarm, and her bellowings were heard a great distance."

His honor the N. Y. Recorder, without admitting the right, has consented to allow all further proceedings relative to Dixon, the fugitive slave, to be carried on in the Supreme Court, until the legality of the writ de homini replegiando, obtained by Horace Dresser, Esq. shall have been decided.

Mr Draper, a regularly bred Physician, of the old school, is delivering lectures in Philadelphia in favor of the Thomsonian system. The Massachusetts Medical Society should hold a meeting instanter.

Bennet thinks that a pretty young woman in a bar room gives a perfume, an additional aroma to good liqueurs that nothing else can.

A benefit to the sufferers by the inundation was given at the Front street theatre, Baltimore, on the evening of the 21st inst.

The Montgomery Guards will make their first public parade in uniform to-morrow, and dine at Concert Hall.

BY SUNDAY'S STEAMBOAT MAIL.

Stocks in New York have not varied much for several days.

The Convention of Western Bank officers, held at Auburn, N. Y. on the 20th inst. have accepted the proposition of the New York City Banks in relation to the mode of settling balances against each other. The Journal of Commerce says "this is an important measure, and will put an end to all trouble about Safety Fund bills, and they will hereafter be at par," with the New York City bills, the Journal should add.

The Intelligence from Florida is more favorable. The Indians have left Tampa Bay, it is true, but their reason for leaving is as detailed in several letters, that they became alarmed from the appearance of the measles at Tampa, which they mistook for small pox. Abraham, the negro chief and interpreter, is still at Tampa Bay.

Gen Jesup has not advised the inhabitants to abandon their crops or retire upon the posts, but merely ordered Major Whiting to direct the inhabitants to be on the alert in case any partial aggression should be offered by straggling Indians.

It is not true, that the Seminoles have been supplied with ammunition by the Creek volunteers. The latter receive their supplies upon requisitions made by the commanding officers of their respective companies, most of whom are officers of the army, (the one or two exceptions being Captain Boyd, and Captain W. P. Wilson, volunteers from Georgia.)

We learn the Third Presbytery of Philadelphia decided, at their recent meeting, to continue their present organization, notwithstanding the decision of the late General Assembly, cutting them off as a Presbytery, which they hold to be unconstitutional, and not in accordance with the constitution of the Presbyterian Church.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman on board the steamboat Wacousta, on the Ohio river, 35 miles below Wheeling, dated

MONDAY EVENING, June 19, 1837.

Steamboat Disaster.—About 6 o'clock this morning, 26 miles below Marrietta, Ohio, at the mouth of the Big Hocking, we found the steamboat Roanoke; she having struck a snag at 2 o'clock yesterday, and sunk in about 2 minutes. She had upwards of 60 passengers, and several women and children, all saved, except one man, supposed to be lost. Had it happened at night, few would have escaped; but a part of the hurricane deck is out of water. She is going down the river.

The Victoria brings advices one day later from England, viz. Liverpool to the 25th May, and London to the evening of the 24th. There is no news of importance. Consols closed on the 24th at 91 1 4. Nothing later from Spain. The Portuguese ministry has been once more dissolved.—N. Y. Jour. Commerce.

From the London Courier, May 24th.

The American paper is in little demand, and prices are nearly stationary. United States Bank post notes are 94 1-2 to 95, and Morris Canal Bonds 98 1-2 to 99.

The advices from Tripoli reach to the 26th of March. The plague still continued its ravages with unabated fury, and the deaths were from 35 to 40 per day. Every measure had been adopted to arrest the malady, but the town was nearly half depopulated.

Liverpool, May 24.—There has been a fair demand for Cotton yesterday and to-day, yet the advances obtained early in the week of ⅛ a 1/16 has partially disappeared and the market closes heavily. The week's import is 20,844 bags.

Appointments by the President.—John M Read of Philadelphia, to be Attorney of the United States for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania.

Jose Maria Castanos, to be Consul of the United States for the port of San Blas, Mexico.

William P. Gilliam, to be Consul of the United States for the port of Montorey, North California, Mexico.

The Wheeling Times of the 19th June says:—The river is in good navigable order, and trade rather brisker than usual. Weather seasonable and fine.

From the Louisville Journal, June 15.

Some of the prisoners of the Work House yesterday knocked the turnkey down, took from him the key of the main entrance, locked the keeper in a cell, and then quietly, to the number of 14, walked out of the prison, locking the door after them.

Martinsburg, (Va.) June 17.—Fire.—We are called upon this week to record the conflagration of the mills recently erected by Col Edward Colston and Mr Benjamin Barby, on the Potomac. There was about $20,000 worth of grain in the merchant and corn mills, and a quantity of flour, the destruction of which, with the buildings, makes the loss, by a rough calculation of one of the proprietors, about forty-five thousand dollars.

Horrid Murder.—At Blackville, (S. C.) on the 2d inst. Henry Graves, aged about 30 or 25 years, was given a dollar and a half to drink three half pints of strong unadulterated Cognac brandy, which he did in a few minutes, after being in a state of inebriation all day. Medical assistance was procured immediately, but it could not avail him.

Mexican Outrage.—Capt Freeman, of the schooner Gardiner, of Gardiner, Maine, has communicated to us a recent and most glaring outrage committed by the Mexican authorities at Tobasco. We give the facts, almost in the words of his statement to us.

He sailed for Tobasco from New York, on the 25th March in ballast, with only two small cases of medicine for a physician there, and having cleared at this port, taking three special manifests, duly certified by the Mexican consul here. Arrived April 18th, delivered his three general manifests of cargo, and the three certified manifests, to the boarding officer, who asked that the cases should remain on board till he heard from the town of Tobasco. Meantime, Capt. F. discharged his ballast and took in a cargo of logwood, which employed him five days. He then went to Tobasco to clear, taking the cases by consent of the boarding officer, and delivered them at the custom house—was then ordered to appear before the District Judge, Felipe Orapeza, who told him that his vessel was condemned, and presented a paper for him to sign, in Spanish—which was translated by the consignee's clerk, and was an acknowledgment that the vessel had been legally and regularly condemned, after trial. He refused to sign, and was threatened with imprisonment. The Judge ordered him to appear again at 4 o'clock, which he did, in company with the U. S. consul, Mr Coleman. The same paper was again presented for signature, and the consul instructed him not to sign it. The consul inquired why the vessel was condemned, and was told it was none of his business. The judge would give no other answer. The consul asked if Captain Freeman had been guilty of contraband, and was answered no—that there was nothing against him but the information of the boarding officer, that there was an informality in his manifest. What that informality was he could not learn. An officer and guard came on board the next day, took possession of the vessel, drove the mate and crew on shore, and discharged the cargo that had been taken in. After much intercession, the mate and crew were allowed to take their clothes, but were not allowed to take any provisions. Expense of discharging was charged to the consignees, and they had to pay it. The vessel remains in the possession of the Mexicans, Capt. Freeman and his crew having arrived on board the Halcyon. The port of Tobasco was closed for six days previous to the sailing of the Halcyon, which was May 18. American vessels were not allowed to hoist their flags, or sail until that day.—N. Y. Com. Adv.

☞ It is said that a Convention will be held at Washington, during the extra session, for the ostensible purpose of agreeing upon some plan for the resumption of specie payments, but in reality, it is apprehended, with a view of enabling the representatives of the State banks to intrigue with the members of Congress, and to restore and strengthen the connection between bank and State.

☞ Hon. Charles A. Dewey, the new Judge of the Supreme Court, having been duly qualified by taking and subscribing the oath of office, took his seat for the first time in the Supreme Court on Saturday morning, with Judge Shaw, Wilde, Morton, and Putnam.

POLICE COURT.

Changing the Field of Action.—The readers of the Post, during the past week have been delighted with a couple of belligerent cards, or paper bullets, discharged at one another by Dr Charles J. Houpt, Dentist, and H. C. Currier, Broker. Dr Houpt came out, under his own signature, cautioning the public against buying two notes for $250, unlawfully obtained from him, and without consideration, by Currier. Currier replied per Post, cautioning the good public against dealing with the Doctor, because he did not know right from wrong. By this token the Doctor learned that two could play at paragraphing, and on Friday, he changed the field of action to the Police Court, where he charged him with obtaining the notes by false pretences. On Friday night Currier chewed the cud of reflection in jail, and on Saturday forenoon, he took the stand, and received the Doctor's fire from the other side. The charge was a pretty heavy one—no less than having sold to the Doctor a lease, which he had no more right to sell, than he had to sell a farm in the moon. He gave the Doctor a formal lease, and took the notes in question, in payment. Currier was defended by J. Harrington, Esq. who maintained that the notes were of no value, and had been converted into trash by the newspaper contest about them, and nobody would give a button for them. Col Moore replied, that although his learned antagonist was perfectly correct in his depreciating estimate of the worth of the notes at this present time, considering the state of the money market, yet on the day they were made, they were as good as old gold, and much more convenient to carry about in a pocket-book.

His Honor was not long in deciding, that Mr Currier should give bonds in $600, for his appearance at the Municipal Court.

Col. Moore now proposed that Dr Houpt should take the stand, and complain against Currier for larceny, by stealing the lease aforesaid. Quite late in the evening, Currier knocked at the Doctor's house in Winter street, and told the person who answered, that he wanted his teeth sharpened, or otherwise operated on. Under this pretence he was admitted to the sanctum, where Dr Houpt was employed in setting a suite of porcelain grinders for a patient. Currier whispered to the Doctor that he wanted to look at the lease for a moment, and strike out a clause about the taxes. The Doctor's eye-teeth did'nt happen to be cut at that precise moment, and he unwittingly handed him the document. Currier said he would walk into an adjoining room, and make the proposed alteration; but instead of doing so, he slipped out of the front door, and ran across the street. The Doctor and Charles Thorne ran after him, and raised the hue and cry of "stop thief." Currier sought refuge in a restorator opposite, into which he was followed by Doctor Houpt and Mr Charles Thorne, who seized him by the throat, and squeezed it till he yielded up the lease. Thorne then applied the toe of his boot to Currier's rear rank, and sent him clear into the middle of the street, where he no sooner found himself than he re-commenced his flight down the street; but by this time Doctor Houpt's party was reinforced by a special constable, who had recently been on duty as a private watch on the premises. His name was Tippoo Saib the Great, and being furnished with four mighty long legs, he soon out stripped his biped companions, and came up with poor Currier. Barking in the name of the Commonwealth, Tippoo forthwith served his process—not by a tap on the shoulder, but by making his teeth meet in the seat of his prisoner's breeches. The cloth of the breeches was not calculated to resist such an attack, and gave way, and thus gave liberty to their owner, and an airing to the skirt of his linen. As soon as he found himself disengaged from Tippoo's jaws, Currier flew—we say flew, because when he lost a portion of his pants, he gained something which had much the appearance of wings—he flew out of sight, the direction of his flight being veiled by the sable shades of night.

A day or two after, he called again on Doctor Houpt to apologise for his conduct, saying that he had been instigated to do what he had done by the Doctor's brother Dentists in the street. Houpt now endeavored to detain him till an officer could be found, but Currier smoked his amiable design, and tried to escape. As he found the doors all secure, he tried a window, and the Doctor seized him by the leg, just as he was completing his exit. Currier now felt that he was critically situated—even worse off than when Tippoo Saib embraced his seat of honor; but he determined on one more decisive effort—disengaged his leg, and fell head foremost into the cellar below; and before the Doctor could exactly make out what had become of him, he escaped through a back entrance to the cellar. On Friday evening Constable Shute overhauled him near his own house, but had to follow him over three or four fences, before he could arrest him. He was then taken to jail, being followed on the way by a long train of tag, rag, and bobtails.

After hearing this statement His Honor suggested, that as Currier was already held in heavy bonds on one charge, growing out of the same transaction, it might not be necessary to act upon the second without further deliberation. Col. Moore replied, that he considered the larcency to be a stronger case than the getting of the notes, but would postpone further action upon it till Monday.

Poor Currier's court troubles did not end here. The two instances above were not all the false pretences he had been guilty of. About a month ago, having some misunderstanding with Mr Joel Wheeler, he called him into a bye way, under pretence of having an amicable chat, but he no sooner got into the snug corner, than he let him have a precious wipe in the face. For this he was fined at the time $1.00, and costs; and in consideration of the forbearance displayed by Mr Wheeler on the stand, he pledged his word to the Court, that he would not again molest him. In half an hour afterwards, however, he met Mr Wheeler in Briggs's Rooms, and threatened him with violence. Mr Edward T. Briggs also testified, that he heard Currier say that he would be revenged on Mr Wheeler, if it cost him a thousand dollars, and would give one hundred to have him in a sly place. He had managed to keep out of the Constable's way till Friday, when he was arrested on two processes. He was ordered to pay the costs, and give bonds in the sum of $50 to keep the peace four months.

☞ When the business was concluded, he came to Ourself, and, with a most beguiling smile, begged of us to make our "Report as favorable as possible;" and we trust we have done that thing entirely to his satisfaction.

A Mystery.—Orson Everson was charged by James E. Leavitt, with stealing from him $250. Mr Leavitt stated that on Wednesday Everson came up to the Lafayette stable, and said he wanted to buy a fast horse. Mr Leavitt had one put into a chaise, and both rode out to try his speed; but after he returned Mr Leavitt discovered that his pocket-book, containing the $250, was missing. Everson agreed to call the next morning, and give an answer about the horse, but did not, and Leavitt suspected him of the theft. On Friday, he fell in with him in a shed in a cross road near Danvers. He owned that he had taken the money, and given it to one Soames. Leavitt then brought him back to Boston, and learning that Soames had gone to New York, he clapped his prisoner in jail. Charles M'Intire testified that he heard Everson admit that he had given the money to Soames. It is said that there is a singular defence to the charge, which may be guessed at from the following mysterious interrogatories propounded by Col. Moore, Everson's counsel, to Leavitt:—

Col. M.—Did he engage to furnish you with five hundred dollars, in half dollars—no matter what sort of half dollars—for your $250.

Leavitt.—No.

Col. M.—Did he or not furnish you with a box of shot, instead of a box of the kind of coin you bargained for?

Leavitt.—No.

The same questions were put to Mr M'Intire, and he replied in the negative also. Everson was ordered to recognize for his appearance at the Municipal Court in the sum of $331.

An ancient German, went into the German Coffee House, and called for wine. When he was about to pay for it, Mrs Catherine Pfaff charged him with owing for some refreshments furnished to some of his friends. He denied the bill, and she called him a beggar. To this he replied, that he was as good as she, if not better, and also using a phrase, that admitted of more than one interpretation, and like all other angry women, she put the worst possible construction on it, and resented it by throwing a tumbler at his face. She took good aim, and laid his lip open from the nostril to the edge of the lip. Taking into consideration the infirmity of a female temper, His Honor let her off by paying a fine of $5,00, and costs.

James Fitz has a great propensity for sparring, and Patrick Kennedy has not, and when Fitz gave him a scientificker in the ribs, he showed some temper. Fitz then told him, if he meant to be ugly, he'd give him something to be ugly for, and so hit him another dig, and would have followed it up if he had not been taken away by a bystander. He afterwards threatened Kenedy severely, and laid in wait to renew his attack on him, and for this Kennedy had him up, and made him pay $7 00.

Five more of the Broad street Rioters arrested.—Five young men, suspected of being concerned in the destruction of property in Broad street, on Sunday the 11th inst., were ordered to recognize for their appearance on Tuesday. Charles Pierce, who is reputed to possess some property, found bail in the sum of $500. The remaining four, in default of bail for $300 each, were committed. Their names are E. G. Damsell, John Hersey, Philip Piper, and William Trainer.

☞ The Lion Theatre.—That ancient patriarch Manager Cooke takes a benefit to-night. The exhibitions which he has produced have been of the most amusing, interesting and astonishing character, and have elicited the admiration of the select and fastidious of our citizens.

☞ The Globe of Thursday night contains "an exposition of the grounds on which the POSTMASTER GENERAL declined executing a part of the award of the Solicitor of the Treasury in favor of Messrs Stockton & Stokes, and others." It is a calm and candid review of the whole history of the case, and must impress every impartial mind with a sense of the propriety of the Postmaster's conduct. The "exposition" is written with all the perspecuity and power characteristic of its author's style of composition. We shall re-publish it entire, commencing to-morrow.

Economy.—Getting fourpence worth of shave, and then tendering a "V." on a country bank, with a full knowledge that the barber will be obliged to give in the shave, for want of change—the practical economist having observed bill after bill declined. Such an act of prudence almost disturbs the placidity of the "Philosopher." I learnt the discreet lesson on the Sabbath, but not out of a Sabbath-school book. STENO.

☞ Accident.—On Saturday night, J. G. Duy, while looking at some engravings in the Congress street Lunch, and in stepping back, fell through the opened trap into the cellar upon some bottles, and was severely cut in the side and in the hand. A stable keeper refused his hack to convey the wounded man home, although any price was offered him. He objected, because blood might get on the cushions.

Melancholy.—On Saturday about three o'clock P. M. a scow laden with mud and containing four persons, when near Cragie's bridge sunk and one of the number, Philip Bradley, about 21 years of age, residing at 138 Ann st. was drowned. The other three were rescued by a boat which put off to their assistance. The body of Mr B. was recovered on Sunday morning.

☞ The whig friends of Mr Webster have agreed to hold a Public Meeting at Masonic Hall, New York, on Wednesday evening next, for the purpose of nominating him for the Presidency—they say, however, that they will drop him if a whig National Convention nominates any one else.

"Miss Turpin," (why not call her Mrs. Wallack, as she is) has made a decided hit at Philadelphia. The U. S. Gazette says—"Her reception was in the highest degree flattering, while the splendid execution of the most difficult and beatiful passages in the opera proved how richly the applause was merited, which her performance received from beginning to end."

The New York Era says that every human being upon the face of the earth, (nine or ten hundred millions,) might not only stand but sleep within the boundaries of London, and have plenty of room to kick his neighbor out of bed.

Miss Martineau, in her late work on America, in the course of a paragraph on the subject of "negro imitation" tells the following story:—

"Even in their ultimate funeral courtesies, the colored race imitate the whites. An epitaph on a negro baby at Savannah begins 'Sweet blighted lily!'"

The Park Theatre was crowded on Wednesday evening to see Miss Tree and Mr Barrett in Beatrice and Benedict. The Era says that George is the best Benedict he has seen since Charles Kemble.

A man in New Jersey says that he owes "The King of the French" a grudge for a flogging he received from his Majesty when he was a school master in Haddonfield, in that State.

"Mentor," in the Baltimore Patriot, misrepresents the Post, and as he must have done it intentionally, we shall not reply to him.

The Baltimore Sun is scorching Miss Martineau. Harriet will get pretty well singed before the Press is done with her.

They are giving dinners to the "Wandering Piper" in Baltimore, and to the "Wandering Spouter" in Kentucky.

The Andover and Haverhill Railroad is one of the most profitable in the country.

The Atlas says that it is exactly like Mr J. Q. Adams, and it called him a "renowned renegade."

A great anti-bank meeting has been held at Cincinnati, Ohio.

The Rats have become so hungry in England that they eat up the hogs.

Miss Martineau says that the ladies in the first society in this country are much given to intemperance!

Death Incident on Crime.—Early Saturday morning a negro entered the cabin of a vessel lying at T wharf, and attempted to steal the Captain's watch. He was detected in the act dropped the watch on the cabin floor and fled. The Captain persued and caught him. The negro escaped from him, jumped overboard and swam to the Eastern packet pier. He was followed by a by boat, but disappeared under the pier and was shortly after found drowned.—Trans.

Fatal Accident.—On Saturday afternoon last, a Mr Nickerson, who was employed on the United States ship Columbus, in the Dry Dock at the Navy Yard, fell from one of the ports to the bottom of the Doch, fracturing his skull and breaking one of his thighs, which caused his death the same night. He has left a wife and two children.—Advertiser.

PANORAMAS OF JERUSALEM AND NIAGARA FALLS, at the new Building, Charles Street, near the Providence Rail Road Depot. These splendid Pictures will be exhibited at the Panorama, commencing on Saturday, May 27th, and will be open every day, Sundays excepted, from 6 o'clock in the morning till sunset.

The Panorama of Jerusalem, is one of the largest and finest pictures of its kind in the world, and covers a surface of 10,000 square feet. The artist made a journey to the Holy City in the year 1834, for the express purpose of making the drawings. Its accuracy may be relied upon, and it is universally acknowledged to be a very superior painting.

The Panorama of Niagara gives a correct representation of those celebrated Falls, and is also a painting of superior merit.

☞ Admittance, 25 cents to each Picture. Season tickets, not transferrable, admitting to both pictures, $1.

VALUABLE BUILDING LOTS.

On Thursday next, at 4 o'clock, P. M. on the premises.

At Jamaica Plains, Roxbury.

30 eligible building lots, from 15,000 feet to 5 acres each. Said lots are situated upon Willow street, which has recently been opened, extending from the main street, on Jamaica Plain, to the Dedham Turnpike They occupy both sides of this street, and many of the lots are well wooded—command fine prospects, and afford beautiful sites for cottages and villas, being retired, and yet near the heart of the village of Jamaica Plain, to which an omnibus runs from the city, and within three minutes walk of the Providence Railroad.—The remarkable salubrity of this neighborhood is well known, and these lots combine with this singular beauty of situation, an easy communication with the city. To parents who wish to live in the country, the excellent schools of the village offer the best opportunities for the education of their children. To those who either wish to build, or to make advantageous investments in Real Estate, when depreciation is improbable, and an advance nearly certain, the above sale is recommended.

ROWLAND'S MACASSAR OIL.

THE high repute and extensive sale of Rowland's Macassar Oil, throughout the world, has induced speculators to imitate the label, even to forgery, and impose on the public base imitations, instead of the original.

Also, adventurers, to gain a trifle more profit, have introduced into the United States counterfeit imitations, composed of deleterious ingredients, injurious to the hair, to the serious injury of the proprietors and the public.

To prevent such imposition, A. Rowland & Son respectfully solicit particular attention on purchasing the original Macassor Oil; each bottle is enclosed with a treatise on the hair, in an envelope, tastefully executed, with the names of his agents on each pamphlet.

The signature and address is red, on a pattern of lace work, similar to a banker's cheque.

"A. Rowland & Son, 20 Hatton Garden,"—countersigned "Alex. Rowland."

Also, each bottle has the name and address of the Agent on the label—Mr J. A. DICKSON, Music Saloon, Cornhill, formerly Market street, Boston.

☞ Particular attention to this caution is necessary, as the proprietors cannot be responsible for the serious injury resulting from the use of base imitations.

For sale, by appointment of A. Rowland & Son, by their Agent, at 34 and 36 Cornhill, (late Market street,) wholesale or retail. M&Tis3w—ostf my31

BENJAMIN LORING & CO. 122 State street, have just received by the Cameo, from London, a new article of the Steel Pen, manufactured by Perryian, the original inventor of this most wonderful improvement.

Patent Perryian Regulating Flat Spring Pen.—The flexibility given to this pen by the flat spring is superior to that found in the best quill, it may be made harder or softer, by placing the pen higher or lower in the holder; will write on any sort of paper with the greatest freedom, and never fatigues the hand.

Patent Perryian Regulating Spring Pen.—The novel invention, by means of the regulating spring, commands all the ease and freedom of the best quill; it may also be made harder or softer, to suit the hand or taste of the writer, by simply moving the spring higher or lower, according to the degree of flexibility required.

Patent Perryian Elastic Pen Holder, with appropriate Pens.—The novel construction of the elastic holder, confers in the Pen unequalled advantages, by imparting an agreeable softness and flexibility, rendering it so perfectly unrestrained in its action, that it never fatigues the hand, and enables it to pass over any description of paper with ease and expedition.

Patent Perryian India Rubber Spring Pen.—This novel application of Caoutchoue effects an extraordinary elasticity in the patent pen, and its advantages over the quill must be universally acknowledged.

Patent Perryian Fountain Pen.—Warranted to write more than fifty lines with one dip of ink.

Double Patent Perryian Pen. with patent elastic holder.—This instrument has obtained for the inventor two Patents from His Brittanic Majesty, and also two patents from His Majesty the King of the French, and is used in more than forty government offices.

☞ B. L. & Co. have also on hand twenty other kinds of patent pens, direct from the manufacturers.

ADAMS'S PATENT

THE subscriber has on hand a good assortment of the Swelled Beam Windlass Bedsteads, which, for comfort and convenience is undoubtedly the best article yet invented; its chief peculiarity is that of the Swelled Beam, the effect of which is to produce a crowning, and elastic sacking, and effectually provides against its saging. They are easily set up or taken down, and may be saved in case of fire as easily as any other piece of furniture, and from its mode of construction less liable to harbor insects than any other kind; but above all its advantages is the ease and comfort obtained from the sacking, by being made and kept elastic by means of the Swelled Beam, (the form of which is exhibited in the above cut.)

Orders thankfully received, and promptly attended to

INDIGESTION, JAUNDICE AND BILIOUS COMPLAINTS. ANDERSON'S VEGETABLE ELIXIR, for Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Jaundice and Bilious Complaints; weakness of the Stomach and Bowels, and consequent loss of appetite; nervous complaints, headach, sour stomach, flatulence and habitual costiveness.

This medicine is composed entirely of vegetable substances is perfectly safe in its operation, and may be given to children or persons of the most delicate habit, without the least risk of inconvenience.

The uniform success which has attended the use of it where it has been extensively used, in Boston and various other parts of the United States, and in the West Indies, attested by disinterested and highly respectable persons, affords, next to a trial of the medicine itself, the best commentary upon its virtues, and the best recommendation which can be offered to those who are unacquainted with it.

Extract of a letter received from a gentleman in Boston, who had suffered severely from indigestion for three years. 'During this time, I suffered very much from mental depression, constant pain in the head and breast, and side, sharp shooting pain over almost the whole system—the food that I ate seemed to pass into my lungs and there remain, giving me great pain attended with a strong degree of heat. At times, I suffered so much from the pain of indigestion as to be confined to the bed for two or three days. During one of these most severe attacks I was induced by the advice of a friend to try your Vegetable Medicine. In the course of a few weeks I found myself much better, and by the time I had taken two bottles, considered myself wholly free from the complaint. I continue, on the least feeling of any thing like indigestion or pressure on the stomach, to take about a table spoonful of it, which, in the course of a few hours completely restores me. It has had with me a very wonderful effect, in strengthening the stomach and invigorating the whole system, and judging by my own case, I consider it in all diseases connected with the digestive organs to be a very valuable medicine.

It has been found singularly efficacious in cases of the most obstinate headache.

It is put up in large bottles containing a pound and a half and sold at seventy-five cents each, by Jonathan P. Hall, Jr. No. 1, Union street, John P. Whitwell, Milk street, John I. Brown, near Boylston Market, Erastus S. Holden, near the Western Avenue, Richard A. Newell, Summer street, Boston Samuel Kidder & Co. Charlestown, E. G. Lemon, Roxbury.

PECK'S PATENT PLATFORM BALANCE.

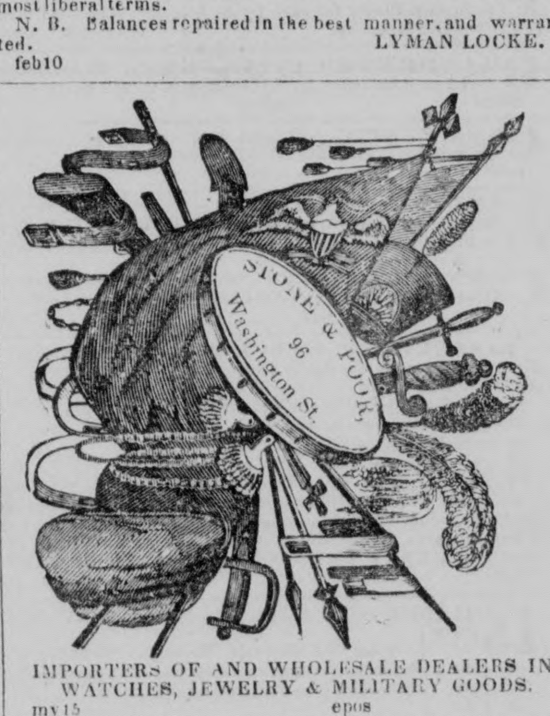

L. LOCKE would respectfully invite the attention of those in want of weighing apparatus, to an examination of the above, as these Balances contain several useful improvements over any other scale of the kind now in use, and for both accuracy and convenience are not surpassed by any. They have given entire satisfaction to those who have purchased, used and tested them. They are manufactured in the best manner, by experienced workmen, and warranted.

Purchasers will have the privilege of returning them after giving them a fair trial, if not satisfied with them. In introducing the above scales to the notice of the public, the subscriber would say, that it is with entire confidence that he will be able to meet the wishes and expectations of those who may favor him with their custom.

Please call and examine them at the manufactory. No 3 Fulton st, (near the corner, rear of Commercial street, Boston,) where may be found, also, a good assortment of the Dearborn Patent Balances, Scale Beams, and most other kinds of weighing apparatus in use, for sale wholesale or retail, on the most liberal terms.

ALBANY AND TROY PACKETS.—REGULAR LINE.

Schooner	VISSCHER,	Owen Bearse, master.
"	GRECIAN,	A. Watson, "
"	BENJ. BIGELOW,	F. Wells, "
"	VICTOR,	John Cammett, "
"	DEBORAH,	D. A. Allen, "
"	STRANGER	Nelson Bearse, "
"	NIAGARA,	Andrew Lovell, "
"	ALBANY,	Edwin Scudder, "

These vessels are all of the first class, with experienced masters, who are likewise first rate pilots.

The owners of this line, to avoid detention by head winds and shoal water, in the narrow and shoal part of the river near Albany, have purchased (to be used by this line) the Steam Boat "WADSWORTH," as a tow boat and lighter, which, with the lighter Grampus, of ninety tons, built the last season expressly for this line, they think will prevent the delay hitherto experienced at that place, and insure punctuality and dispatch. Merchandise by this line, destined to places on the northern, western or Ohio Canals, northern and western Lakes, &c. &c. &c. will be forwarded by the Agents without delay.

These packets will sail regularly on Wednesday and Saturday of each week, from opposite No 15 Long wharf, north side, Boston, and from the piers at Albany and Troy.

The patronage of the public is respectfully solicited.

Agents at Boston—BANGS & ALLCOTT, 15 Long wharf.

Agents at Albany—GAY & WILLARD, 104 Pier, foot of State st. Agents at Troy—GAY & WILLARD, 189 River street. eptf mh3

TO FISHING AND PLEASURE PARTIES.

THE subscriber would respectfully inform his friends and the public that he has put his fast sailing pleasure boat TREMONT in complete repair, and is ready to attend upon those who may favor him with their patronage. The Tremont is a first rate boat, (about 15 tons,) and was built expressly to accommodate Fishing and Pleasure parties, and will accommodate from 20 to 30 persons. The subscriber has likewise a number of smaller boats to accommodate those who do not wish for so large a boat. No pains will be spared to supply his boats with all necessary conveniences, and he respectfully solicits a continuance of that public favor which has been bestowed upon him in former seasons. The boats can be had at short notice, by leaving orders at BENJ F. MAHAN'S, No 71 Long wharf, where they can be furnished with stores, lines, cooking apparatus, &c.

REMOVAL.

INCORRUPTIBLE PORCELAIN TEETH.—The subscriber returns his sincere thanks to the citizens of Boston for the liberal patronage he has received from them during the last year—he has now removed his office to a more central situation, and owing to the great number of teeth inserted by him daily, he is enabled to reduce his terms at least 50 per cent on all operations from this date. The average price for the best Porcelain Teeth will be, on gold plate $3, pivot $1 to 1 50, filling and cleaning 75 cents to $1, and all operations warranted for the term of five years. He will continue to visit persons at their residence and complete any operations in two visits half an hour each. He has within the last three years instructed several Dentists in this city, who are now practising with great success.

CHARLES J. HOUPT, No 11 Winter street.

N. B. A complete set of 24 teeth to masticate with ease, for a person that has no teeth, will be ready for inspection in one month, and one hundred dollars will be paid on presentation for a better specimen of workmanship. jan19
